Your help today ensures our tomorrow

AIDS. Warfare. Poverty. In the face of such daunting hardships, a generation of African children has been left without parents, without homes and, all too often, without hope. Today, there are over 36 million orphans under the age of 15 in Sub-Saharan Africa alone. Of these children, more than 12 million have lost their parents to AIDS, and by the year 2010—just two years from now—experts predict the number of AIDS orphans to reach 15.7 million. The Healing Homes Project mission is simple: To provide safe, self-sufficient, sustainable homes for orphaned children in developing nations.
